

The shape of a bird's beak is adapted to its habitat and to the food that it eats.

Try using tools to gather food like a bird does.

What happens if you try to use a different tool to gather that food?

How do humans use different tools to eat different foods?

Can you eat soup with chopsticks? Rice with toothpicks? Spaghetti with a spoon?

